Georgia's Average Teacher Pay Highest in Its Region

Washington, D.C.—Georgia's average teacher salary of $45,414 for 2002-03 was the highest among its neighboring states, according to the American Federation of Teachers' annual teacher salary survey released Thursday.

Georgia ranked 16th in the nation for its 2002-03 average teacher salary, at $45,414, up 3.4 percent from the previous year. Georgia ranked eighth for its average beginning teacher salary in 2002-03, at $33,919, up 4.2 percent from the year before. The AFT estimates that Georgia's average starting salary for the most recent school year, 2003-04, was $35,005.

Regionally, Georgia bested its Southeastern neighbors for higher average teacher pay and average starting teacher salary. South Carolina was 28th for average pay at $40,362; Florida was 29th, at $40,281; and Alabama was 33rd, at $39,524.

Across the country, teachers' salaries remained relatively stagnant while their share of health benefits rose at all-time rates, making it difficult to attract and keep good teachers at a time when they are increasingly needed, the report said.

Nationally, the 2002-03 average teacher salary, which is the most recent figure available, was $45,771, up 3.3 percent from the previous year, and the average beginning teacher salary was $29,564, up 3.2 percent from the year before. But AFT's report noted that teachers' share of health insurance costs spiked an average 13 percent, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"Exorbitant health insurance costs are taking an intolerable bite out of already inadequate teacher salaries. Teachers are being asked to do more, shortages persist in the most challenging areas to teach, yet compensation packages are insulting," said AFT Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. McElroy.

Furthermore, the AFT noted, superintendents' average salaries are as much as four times higher than teachers' average pay. "States and school districts are crying poverty when it comes to teachers' pay yet somehow find money for extravagant administrator salaries," McElroy said.

California led the nation with the highest average teacher salary for 2002-03, at $55,693. South Dakota had the nation's lowest average teacher salary, at $32,414. Alaska led the nation with the highest average beginning teacher salary for 2002-03, at $37,401. Montana had the nation's lowest average beginning teacher salary, at $23,052.
