Member Benefits

Members are experiencing a rise in incidents of antisemitism and Islamophobia. Threats of violence and intimidation due to hate and bigotry for someone's race, religion, sexual orientation, politics or other characteristics/personal choices create an environment that puts workers at risk. Threats can come in many ways—verbal, physical intimidation, written threats, social media attacks and more.

AFT members who are bullied and threatened on the job, no matter by whom, can receive confidential counseling for free. This can include threats and violence as a result of recent events in the Middle East. Learn more about the details of this benefit and other covered incidents by logging in to your member benefit portal at aft.org/members-only.
